

LIFE LESSONS FOR LILA MAE YUNGINGER

Leaping to conclusions will always cause you to land in hot water
Inviting people to share their thoughts with you shows you care about them
Laughing out loud is a lot better than crying in silence
Approaching problems directly will make them depart even quicker

Meeting someone half way is better than traveling the entire road alone
A long journey will become shorter after you take the first step
Enjoying the simple things in life will help you deal with the tough times

Years of happy memories will always erase moments of sad thoughts
Ugliness can be ignored if you take the time to find the beauty in things
Nothing is better than accomplishing a goal that seemed out of reach
Girls who have sisters also have best friends for their entire lives
In order to succeed you must first learn to deal with a few failures
Next time you have failed remember all the other times you have succeeded
Grasping on to the past causes the future to slip through your fingers
Expecting the worst result will prevent you from giving your best effort
Remember every lesson in life will always have something to teach you
